CUBA SPURNS CHARGE OF ATTACK ON PLANE

DEATH TOLL UNKNOWN

Typhoon Hits Hong Kong

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Typhoon Wanda hit this crowded British colony with full force today killing at least 50 persons. The typhoon, travelling about 85 miles an hour, injured about 200 persons. More than 15,000 persons are homeless and about 13 are missing, according to incomplete reports. Word on casualties from outlying islands awaited the restoration of communications. The typhoon drove many ships aground in the harbor. British and Australian warships, including the British commando carrier Bulwark, sailed out of harbor Friday night to ride out the storm at sea as the typhoon swept in from the Pacific. At least three persons died and more than 20 were injured when a 10-foot-high tidal wave struck the outlying town of Shatin this morning. One section of the small town was flooded to a depth of five feet and sampans were washed out to the railroad station. FIRES BREAK OUT On Hong Kong island alone seven houses and 128 huts were destroyed and 24 fires broke out. Damage to buildings and crops was expected to run into several million Hong Kong dollars. At least seven vessels were reported to have broken their moorings at the height of the storm.

UK Strike Off

LONDON (Reuters)—A strike by London's 5,000 lightermen—was called off today. The lightermen decided to go back to work Monday. The decision was made at a mass meeting attended by about 3,000.

STANLEY PARK'S BABY PENGUIN GETS TOO MUCH MOTHER LOVE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stanley Park's baby penguin has been locked up for awhile. The reason, says assistant curator Larry LeSage, is an excess of motherhood. LeSage said all the other penguins wanted to mother the month old baby King penguin and began fighting for the privilege. "The baby was caught in the middle of the fracas," said LeSage, "so we locked him up with his mother and father."

Soviet Tried Venus Shot — But Failed Says Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—An informed source says Russia tried a Venus space shot a week ago but it failed and fragments of the spacecraft are now orbiting in space. A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration declined comment at first but later said of the report: "That conforms with the information we have." The source said three fragments of the Russian spacecraft are still orbiting the earth. A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration declined comment at first but later said of the report: "That conforms with the information we have."

Cosmonauts

Learn To Swim

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet scientist says cosmonauts can swim in their space cabins like swimmers in a pool of water. In an article in the government newspaper Izvestia physicist A. S. Poytitsky says cosmonauts can swim "by pushing the air as does a swimmer when he pushes the water." He said Russian cosmonauts Nikolayev and Popovich "completely learned the technique of swimming" during their recent flights.

Two Linked In Big Theft

LEWISTON, Me. (AP)—Two Massachusetts men were linked by police today to a shooting and a kidnapping robbery, but they denied any part in the $1,500,000 multi-truck robbery in Plymouth, Mass., Aug. 15. Charles J. Alfano, 34, of Quincy, and Raymond McGrath, 37, of Worcester, were to be questioned further today, police said, by postal inspectors, FBI agents and state and local investigators. William F. White, chief postal inspector for New England, said in Boston there might be a link between the two men and the multi-truck robbery and investigators want to explore the possibility.

A REBEL SOLDIER waits of civil war threatens the tensely in Algiers as the threat troubled country.

Rival Forces Form Up For Battle Of Algiers

ALGERS (AP)—Algeria tottered nearer to the edge of civil war today as 30,000 regular army troops massed southwest of Algiers for a threatened offensive against mutinous guerrilla forces holding the capital. The rebel guerrilla leaders of wily (military zones) 2 and 4 ordered their smaller and less-well-equipped forces to hold the city at any cost. They also attempted to drum up civilian backing for their cause, calling on the Moslem population to form human barriers against any advance by the motorized, heavily armed regular troops loyal to Vice Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's political bureau. There appeared to be scant popular support for either side in the capital. Friday, 20,000 Moslems paraded through the streets of Algiers shouting, "Down with civil war." They demanded an end to the chaos which has rocked this nation since it won independence from France two months ago after 7½ years of regular army forces, armed bloody rebellion and terrorism.

Beserk Gunman Kills 2 Before Being Shot Down

NEW YORK (AP)—A gunman, lame and nursing a grudge, killed a woman and a policeman Friday night and led police in a running gun battle along Brooklyn's Coney Island boardwalk before he was shot to death. The gunman, identified as James Clark, about 27, a Negro, was brought down by patrolman Herbert Nolan, who donned a bullet-proof vest, walked deliberately toward the rushing gunman and dropped him with four bullets in the head. Nolan was not hit. In his trail, the gunman left two other patrolmen wounded and four other persons injured. More than 100 shots were fired in the gun battle, which broke out as thousands were beginning the Labor Day weekend by visiting the amusement area on the Atlantic Ocean. The crowds ran for cover as police closed in on the armed man. SHOOTS PATROLMEN Clark eluded patrolmen for 13 blocks despite a brace on one leg. The dead policeman was identified as Nicholas A. Panico, 32. He and another patrolman, unaware of the chase, were shot in the head.

Singapore Votes On Malaysia

SINGAPORE (AP)—This teeny island state is voting today on how it will unite with its sister across the Johore Strait, the Federation of Malaya. The ruling People's Action Party of Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew has staged a year-long fight for the merger. The head behind the bid for the merger was the late Sir David Marshall, who died last year. He was a member of the executive council of the Federation of Malaya and was a strong advocate of the merger. The merger would have created a new country, Malaysia, which would have included the Malay Peninsula, Borneo, and Singapore. The merger was opposed by the Chinese community in Singapore, who feared that they would be a minority in the new country. The merger was also opposed by the British, who were concerned about the loss of their strategic base in Singapore. The merger was finally rejected by a referendum in Singapore in 1962.

Six Killed In Auto Crash

LITCHFIELD, Minn. (AP)—Six persons were killed and three others severely injured when two vehicles collided head-on near this central Minnesota town early today. One of those killed, Mrs. Austin Casey of Darwin, Minn., was mother of 15 children. The other dead were identified as: Edward Lohse of Darwin; John Damgaard, Minneapolis; and three Litchfield youths, Larry Andreen, David Landell and Robert Clayton. The Litchfield Police Department is investigating the crash. The crash occurred on a two-lane road. The vehicles involved were a 1958 Chevrolet and a 1957 Ford. The Chevrolet was traveling northbound and the Ford was traveling southbound. The vehicles collided in the middle of the road. The Chevrolet was traveling at about 40 mph and the Ford was traveling at about 30 mph. The crash occurred at about 10:30 a.m. on Friday, September 1, 1962.

JFK Issues Warning Of Quick Retaliation

HAVANA (AP)—Premier Fidel Castro today rejected as "absolutely false" United States charges that Cuban patrol boats fired on a U.S. navy airplane over international waters Thursday.

The premier's strongly worded statement to the Cuban press appeared under banner headlines. The Communist newspaper Hoy said Washington's charges were "only a pretext to attack us."

The White House said Friday the navy plane, on a training mission, was 15 miles off the Cuban coast when fired upon by two Cuban patrol boats. The three naval reservists aboard were not injured. The White House warned that U.S. planes and ships had been authorized to use all means to protect themselves. Castro said no Cuban air or sea craft carried out a hostile attack against any U.S. planes or ships.

Cuba is unafraid in the face of "brutal threats," he said, adding: "If U.S. armed forces attack Cuba they will have to come ready to perish."

Three More

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Havana radio today claimed three more violations of Cuban air space by U.S. planes and alleged forces at the Guantanamo naval base fired five shots towards Cuban territory.

The broadcast said the shots were fired last Wednesday and the air space violations occurred Thursday and Friday. The airplanes flew close to shore off the coasts of Oriente province, said the radio, and one swooped low over a Cuban vessel.

Union Jack Flutters Down Over Newly Freed Nation

(Reuters)—The princess royal, Queen Elizabeth's aunt, presided at a state opening of Parliament Friday for the newly-independent nation made up of the islands of Trinidad and Tobago.

The ceremony, reflecting age-old British parliamentary traditions, followed dancing and singing by 20,000 islanders in celebrations that went on into the early hours after the Union Jack was hauled down at midnight, ending 165 years of British rule.

The princess royal read the speech from the throne, pledging freedom of worship, equality before the law, equality of opportunity in public employment and elimination of discrimination in private employment.

Dr. Eric Williams, 51, a graduate of Oxford University and a former history professor at Howard University, Washington, becomes the new state's first prime minister as leader of the People's National Party. The islands became the 15th member of the Commonwealth.

Canadian Fisheries Minister Angus MacLean was among representatives of 35 countries at the ceremonies.

Soblen Row Blazes On

LONDON (AP)—The tempest over Dr. Robert Soblen continued today after an appeal court defeated the runaway spy's fourth legal attempt to win freedom in Britain.

George Brown, deputy leader of Britain's Labor party, attacked the Macmillan government's handling of the explosive case and charged that it had become more involved than was necessary.

Brown declared Britain's only responsibility was to put the 61-year-old Lithuanian-born psychiatrist "back on the airplane from which we quite accidentally got him. Where that plane took him was not our business." "But our home secretary should not have allowed himself to become either the agent or the alibi for other countries."

NEXT COURIER OUT ON TUESDAY

Full coverage of the Rogers Pass opening by Prime Minister Diefenbaker Monday will be reported in the next issue of The Daily Courier, Tuesday. This newspaper will not be published Monday, Labor Day, as all staff, excepting those covering the Trans-Canada ceremony will be enjoying the holiday, as it is hoped all readers will. Tuesday's paper will include complete coverage of local and international news and sporting events.

Canadians Take to Roads Facing Grim Prediction

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Council urged motorists and pedestrians to "move sensibly, cautiously, vigilantly and defensively" during the three-day weekend in an effort to avoid a repetition of last year's 42 traffic deaths. Most folks will use cars for transportation but in many places railways will be adding extra cars to their trains and the airlines scheduled extra flights.

Fair weather is expected in most parts of the country. In Manitoba, the weather office predicted generally sunny skies with possible showers and thundershowers during the weekend.

Police issued warnings about expected heavy traffic and airlines and railways reported heavy bookings. BOMBERS RIDERS BATTLE A big event in Regina will be the Saskatchewan Bombers' Winnipeg Blue Bombers Western Conference game Monday, in Alberta, another football

Satellites Struck Dumb By New Radiation Belt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States disclosed today that a new radiation belt created by an American nuclear explosion July 9 has knocked out transmissions from three satellites, is stronger than anticipated and may persist for many years. The Atomic Energy Commission and defence department, in a joint announcement, said, however, there is no danger to manned space shots, and that the new communications satellite Telstar has not suffered any apparent damage. The new radiation belt clearly lies above the path of currently manned flights and it will not constitute any hazard to manned satellite launchings that we have planned in the near future," the announcement stated. Satellites affected are transit IV B and its companion satellite TRAAC, launched simultaneously Nov. 14, 1961, to help set up a weather navigational system, and the American launched British scientific satellite Ariel. The new radiation belt was created by July's high-altitude nuclear explosion over Johnston Island in the Pacific and the commission reports it was dissipating rapidly, particularly at lower altitudes, and presented no danger to manned space shots. Today's announcement said data picked up by Telstar "indicate a substantial and greater than anticipated increase in the intensity of radiation."

Top Wheat Crop Forecast May Even Be Exceeded

OTTAWA (CP)—A bumper wheat crop, the seventh largest on record, was forecast by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics Friday and Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton said it may yet prove to be even better. The bureau, analyzing a survey made Aug. 15, estimated wheat production at 530,654,000 bushels, up 87 per cent from the drought-stricken 1961 crop, and better than average for the last decade. Mr. Hamilton said in an interview that weather during the remaining growing and harvesting season was still improving, but prairie MPs were reporting glowing conditions to him in the past two weeks. The bureau also estimated this year's oats crop at 472,278,000 bushels, up 66 per cent from last year; the barley crop at 461,737,000 bushels, up 44 per cent; and the rye crop at 12,689,000 bushels, up 35 per cent.

World News In a Glance

CHICAGO (AP)—The Labor Day weekend in the United States began with heavy casualties in auto crashes. The traffic death toll reached 57 at 11 a.m. EDT this morning, with the most of the holiday yet to come. This was sharply higher than at the same time last year. Three other miscellaneous accidents brought the over-all toll to 60. Pearson's Praise OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson says in a Labor Day message that the rise in Canada's standard of living over the years "is due in no small part to the effort and sacrifice of working men and women." Belgrade Visit BELGRADE (Reuters)—Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev has accepted an invitation from President Tito to visit Yugoslavia from Sept. 24 to Oct. 4, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said today. Quads Born TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Azizeh Mirhoseini Gostari, a 40-year-old school teacher of Jahrom, in Kerman Province, today gave birth to quadruplets in a Tehran hospital. Escape Poland STOCKHOLM (AP)—Six young Polish slowways overpowered the four-man crew of a small Polish trawler and fled to Sweden through rough Baltic storms. Doctors Strike ROME (AP)—Doctors in public hospitals throughout Italy walked out at midnight in a 24-hour strike to enforce demands for higher pay and better working conditions.

Man Charged In Killing Of Bank Manager

HALIBURTON, Ont. (CP)—George Armstrong, 40, of Richmond Hill, Ont., was charged today with capital murder in the shooting of the Bank of Montreal's branch manager here Friday. Police said another man has also been arrested in connection with the slaying. Armstrong was arrested in an abandoned shack near Minden, 15 miles southwest of this village, 55 miles north of Peterborough. Police said Armstrong was taken to hospital in Lindsay, suffering from a deep cut on his right leg near the ankle.

VERNON VIEWPOINTS

SILENTLY, EVEN MAGICALLY, four signs were posted on Barnard Avenue, two each in front of the Allison and National Hotels by the City's Public Works Department.

This may sound routine, but actually it isn't. A long time ago, the city painted white curbs in front of the three hotels on 30th and 31st. The managers were asked to pay for "no parking — passenger zone" signs and the city was to install them. Kalamalka Hotel went along with this arrangement but the Allison and National would not. So, for months the white curbs remained with no markers making it perfectly legal to park a car for an unlimited time, much to the distress of the two hotel managers involved . . . and of course the traffic officers.

John Douglas of the Allison and National's Max Fisher were determined then not to pay for the signs . . . but now the question is who does pay?

Max says he won't and John says he doesn't think he will. Wonder if the city is doing it for free — at last?

A BAND OF BUSINESSMEN in town have been formed to approach City Hall to relocate one of Vernon's famous landmarks. It's all quite hush-hush so far but a full story has been promised next week. And when it does break, long and loud screams will be heard.

WATCH FOR FUTURE developments between the RCMP here and City Council. Police want to increase their staff, city says it can't afford it.

WEEK'S NEWS IN REVIEW

Algeria Fighting Goes On; Cuba Shelling; Smallpox

The struggle for power in Algeria blazed into skirmish-fighting in the Algiers Casbah Wednesday, leading to danger of civil war in the newly-independent country.

The confused conflict began coming to a head last Saturday when the political bureau, which had been in power some weeks under Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, charged that military rebels were preventing it from fulfilling its responsibilities.

The bureau, therefore, cancelled elections scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 2, and—fearing action by powerful guerrilla forces—fled to Oran from Algiers. Ben Bella's rival, Yousef Ben Khedda, titular premier, urged the people to stay calm and warned that civil war could break out.

It was in this chaotic atmosphere that fighting started in the Algiers Casbah, caused veiled Moslem women to rush into the streets screaming "seven years of war is enough"—referring to Algeria's long struggle for independence from France.

Ben Bella has the support of Algeria's 45,000-man regular army and by Friday units of this force were advancing on Algiers with the aim of subduing the guerrilla forces holding the city in opposition to Ben Bella.

NEGOTIATORS COLLIDE At the disarmament conference in Geneva, the United States and Britain Monday offered the Soviet Union a choice of full or limited nuclear test bans.

The total ban would be enforced by international inspection. The other would be a non-inspected "first step" halt in all air, space and undersea blasts until a pact is reached to include underground—the hardest to detect. The Russians countered with a proposal for a non-inspected ban on all tests, to become effective Jan. 1—a proposal unacceptable to the West.

It was apparent the 17-nation Geneva talks—scheduled to recess Sept. 8—Nov. 12 for the United Nations General Assembly in New York—would get nowhere now. But on Friday the U.S. proposed that the three nuclear powers continue meeting during the plenary recess with the aim of reaching agreement on the nuclear question by Nov. 1.

CUBA CHARGES Cuban Premier Fidel Castro sought to pin directly on the United States government the responsibility for the shelling of a Havana suburb by two fast boats manned by Cuban exiles.

The shelling took place Aug. 24 amid reports of a big buildup of aid from the Soviet Union to Cuba. Castro said the attack—for which the U.S. disavowed any responsibility—was in the same category as the U.S.-supported landing on Cuba by Cuban exiles in April, 1961.

In another development, lawyer James Donovan of New York went to Havana to try to negotiate the release of 1,113 prisoners captured in the 1961 action. Castro earlier set the price for their release at $62,000,000.

SCARE PASSES Some 200 persons were placed under quarantine in New York Friday after doctors found a rash on two plane passengers from Brazil and suspected for a time it was smallpox.

But it was determined the two were suffering from another and far less serious ailment. Meanwhile, James Orr, a 14-year-old Alberta boy who contracted smallpox in Brazil, was recovering in a Toronto hospital. He was expected to be released next week.

GAINS INDEPENDENCE The people of Trinidad and Tobago celebrated today a calypso beat as their country became independent at midnight Thursday, the 15th Commonwealth partner of Britain after 165 years as a colony.

ARABS ARGUE A new crisis in Middle East affairs came Tuesday when the United Arab Republic delegation walked out of a meeting of the 13-nation Arab League in Lebanon.

The meeting had been called to consider charges of aggression by Syria against Egypt, its former partner in the U.A.R. But President Nasser's delegation said that instead Syria should be condemned for slandering.

With the future of the Arab League in serious doubt because of disension, two of its members—Jordan and Saudi Arabia—announced Wednesday an agreement to merge their armed forces and co-operate on other matters.

MINISTERS JAILED President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana—who is coming under increasing criticism for high-handed rule—Wednesday jailed his foreign minister, Ako Adjei, another minister and the secretary of his party, the Convention People's Party.

A pro-government newspaper subsequently reported that the three were guilty of implication in an earlier plot against Nkrumah and should be hanged.

FAMOUS MEN DIE Vilhjalmur Stefansson, 82, one of the last of the dog-team explorers of the Arctic, died at his New Hampshire home Sunday. He was a native of Manitoba.

Sir Eric Vassiltart Bowater, 67, chairman of Bowater Pa-

WEEK IN WEST Manitoba's 1962 wheat crop has been estimated at a record 80,200,000 bushels by Manitoba pool elevators, based on an average yield of 25.7 bushels an acre if this year's crop is carried through to maturity. The province's record volume of 69,337,000 bushels was produced in 1915. Last year production was 32,000,000 bushels. A 322,000,000 bushel wheat crop has been estimated for Saskatchewan—the best since 1956—compared with 124,000,000 bushels last year. Average yield was expected to be 18.5 bushels an acre. Agriculture Minister Hamilton Wednesday estimated the value of this year's prairie grain crop at well over $1,000,000,000.

Investigators who went to the scene of the crash say Edmonton pilot Blake Mackenzie, 41, probably lived for 32 days after his single-engine aircraft crashed in the rugged Nahanni Valley area of the Northwest Territories Jan. 5. Air searchers last winter were hampered by bad weather and the aircraft wreckage was found only last week. Investigators later found Mackenzie's camp, near his downed plane, in perfect order. A diary also was found, containing the words: "I have always had a jinx . . . no trace of the missing pilot was found and all hope of finding him alive has been abandoned."

BISHOP GIVES BLESSING DURING PROCESSIONAL

Cornerstone Is Laid At New City Church

Uniformed Scouts, Cubs, Guides, Brownies and members of the Bishop Doyle Circle of the Columbian Squires lined the route of the procession from Immaculate Conception Rectory to the New Church for the laying of the cornerstone last evening. Cross-bearer, Chief Squire Gregory Anundrud and acolytes Wayne Bedford and G. "Spook" Jennett led the procession of clergy, Honour Guard of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus of the Father Richard Assembly who preceded the Most Rev. W. R. Doyle, D.D., Bishop of Nelson to the place of the main altar of the new church. At this location the Bishop assisted by his chaplains, Very Rev. F. L. Flynn of Rutland and Rev. E. F. Martin of St. Pius X Parish blessed the spot where the stone altar will stand.

SEALED CONTAINER

The procession then proceeded to east of the main entrance of the church where the Bishop placed in the cornerstone the sealed container inside of which had been inserted a brief history of the parish, the Kelowna Daily Courier and The Prospector with accounts of the function and the coin of the realm. The polished, red granite corner stone donated by Clarke and Bennett Funeral Directors Ltd., was then blessed and put into position.

LARGE CONGREGATION

The final part of the ceremony consisted of the blessing of the foundations of the new church. All of the functions were witnessed by a large congregation of parishioners not only from Immaculate Conception Parish, but from St. Pius X, Rutland, Westbank and Penticton.

In conclusion Bishop Doyle thanked the parishioners and all who are working on the construction of the church.

Clergy in attendance besides those previously mentioned were Very Rev. R. D. Anderson, Pastor, who gave the commentary on the ceremonies; Rev. Father Aquinas, S. A., Rector of Notre Dame College, and Rev. A. Berkhout of Nelson; Rev. I. Cooper of Nakusp; Rev. J. Smith and Rev. T. Fulkco of Kelowna; Rev. F. M. Goddard, principal of Immaculate High School; Very Rev. W. J. Harrison, Revelstoke; Rev. N. Konomin, Kamloops; Rev. J. Bennett and William Pooler, Sir Knight J. E. Cowan was pilot of the Guard of Honour.

Rt. Rev. W. B. McKenzie and Rt. Rev. A. L. McIntyre, former pastors, sent the congratulations and regrets that they were unable to attend.

Civil guests of the ceremony were guests of the Immaculate Conception Parish Council of the Catholic Women's League for dinner and following all present were invited to St. Joseph's Hall for coffee served by St. Gerard's Circle of the CWL.

Organization of the route of the procession and ushering was handled by the Father Pandosy Council of the Knights of Columbus under the direction of Paul Leinemann, Catholic Activity Chairman.

Also assisting with the ceremony, Vernon; and Rev. A. MacDonald, OMI, Penticton.

YACHT CLUB BOAT TALK

A CERTAIN MAN, who fancies himself as an ardent boat operator was heard to say the other day: "Well, I'm taking mine out of the water the first week of September. Summer's over."

What a statement to make! What an admission! Why that man will lose all the pleasure out of some of the Okanagan's finest boating!

From September right through October the lake is calm and the fall scenery in all its beauty is there for the man who cruises.

And the fishing is fabulous! A few "ardent" boatmen may only take their boats out for a couple of winter months and then only to paint them up.

SOME HAVE FOUND a practice handy at this time of year.

Check all your safety equipment, rope and controls to see they are in good working order after an active summer.

It saves doing it later on and, if replacements are necessary, gives one time to renew gradually until it is again in top condition during winter sales.

SOON THE YACHT CLUB will be making plans for boating courses. These may take place in winter or early spring.

Plan to take the course. They are not only invaluable but may, sooner than you think, be compulsory.

A SIGHT SEEN on Lake Okanagan near Poplar Point the other day shouldn't EVER be seen anywhere.

It was five young boys in a leaky skiff, one operating a paddle and the others climbing all over the place minus life jackets.

An alert teenager, swimming nearby, ordered them ashore and out of the craft pronto. If we had his name we would publish it.

WHATEVER HAPPENED to that old English pastime of sailing model boats on the pond? They still do it in Victoria, but that's Victoria you know!

Actually making and sailing these fine models was a clean and instructive hobby for all ages and a lot was learned about boats that way before the real thing was tackled.

THE YACHT CLUB has hosted a lot of visiting yachtsmen from all over Canada and the United States this summer.

Without exception all of them have expressed pleasure and appreciation for the hospitality shown them. Credit to the club and to the members and catering staff who have made these people welcome.

Foggy London Visitation By Kelowna Chorister

EDITOR'S NOTE: Kelowna's Joan Burnett travelling abroad this summer with the Elgar Choir writes of her feelings about London today. Next stop is Scotland and then the choir will come home early in September.

By JOAN BURNETT LONDON—With its population of over 10,000,000, this is grand city for tourists.

The streets are crowded at all times with many small cars and double-decker buses.

On a foggy and rainy day in mid-August, we arrived at the West London airport; despite the weather, our first impressions were good ones.

SAW WALT DISNEY On August 16, we performed at Overseas House, our first concert in Great Britain. After the concert, as we were walking towards the tube, we came across Walt Disney standing outside the Ritz Hotel. It was thrilling but he sped off quickly to avoid, I suppose, having to sign 30 autograph books.

Next day we toured Windsor Castle with a descendant of the Archbishop of Canterbury as our guide. On our way from the castle we stopped at Runnymede where the Magna Carta was signed. Later, we dined at "Great Fosters" where the Queen occasionally dines. After an afternoon swim in the icy waters of the Thames, we had an evening barbecue.

MEMORABLE PERFORMANCE On August 19, we performed at St. Martin's in the Field at Trafalgar Square where the acoustics were marvelous.

Many remarked on the fine tone quality and good direction of the choir and we considered ourselves honored to be able to perform in the lovely church.

One afternoon we did the tour of the city—down the Mall to Buckingham Palace, through St. James Park to Big Ben, and through the Parliament Buildings. We went to Westminster Abbey and on another afternoon visited the Tower of London.

On August 22, the choir split up to visit relatives all over the country; some went to Scotland, others to Ireland and some of us stayed in London.

"I FORGOT!" In the excitement of visiting some relatives, I forgot to tip the taxi driver!

I attended the "Henry Wood Promenade Concert" at the Albert Hall where the London Philharmonic was performing under the baton of Sir Adrian Boult; they played Elgar, Handel and Schubert and in the second half Schoenberg's version of Brahms' G Minor piano quartet, first time it was performed in this country.

The woodwinds sounded like feverish insects the brass rattled along at a great pace and the percussion had the time of their lives!

Whatever one may feel about Schoenberg's orchestration there is at least no need to doubt the affection that inspired it that night.

SAW BALLET The "Festival Ballet" was magnificent. We saw a ballet called "Napoli", created in the 1850's by a Danish poet-choreographer August Bournonville at the Royal Theatre in Copenhagen and "The Snow Maiden" a Russian ballet with music by Tchaikovsky.

The changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace was another exciting London feature.

With the Queen at Balmoral the flag was not raised for the ceremony and the sentry boxes were recently placed inside the palace gates because of the many tourists who want their pictures taken with the guards.

ACTOR IN FAMILY Much to my delight I found we've an actor in the family tree.

Playing in "School for Scandal" was Richard Easton a second cousin of mine.

One of the highlights to me was the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew. They cover about 300 acres on the east bank of the Thames. The east boundary is Kew Road, built by George the Third in return for closing of the ancient right of way from Richmond to Brentford.

In the Palm House, plants are gathered from the tropics of both hemispheres.

Hampton House was another item of interest. Built by Thomas Wolsey in the reign of Henry the Eighth, among its features was King Henry's kitchen.

There is so much to see in this fine city with entertainment in every shape and form.

Next stop is Scotland, our last overseas stop.

of the thing there is no reason why they shouldn't try and make more money. But they should listen to Mr. Carter, he knows what he's talking about."

Arthur Garrish of Oliver, president of the B.C. Fruit Growers Association, said "there's more to growing apples than merely picking trees in the ground and picking a crop."

"To compete in the commercial market full-scale packing operations would have to be established."

Mr. Garrish said he was surprised that there hasn't been more small-scale apple production on the Saanich peninsula because the climate is not unsuitable.

But commercial production was another matter.

"They can never hope to compete with our main commercial production so far as quality and finish of apples are concerned," the BCGFA president said, citing the strict quality requirements for Delicious apples as an example.

"I can readily believe that apples are a more attractive crop than berries in view of the competitive position of berries from across the line."

Kelowna grower Nigel Taylor wished the Saanich apple growers well.

"More power to their elbow," he said. "Providing they've looked thoroughly into the economics

Conference Will Begin On Wednesday

The 14th British Columbia Natural Resources Conference will be officially opened at the Capri Motor Inn by Premier Bennett Sept. 5. Mr. Bennett is the conference's patron and MLA for Kelowna.

It will be the first time the conference has been held in the interior.

Two top speakers in the field of river basin development will head the list of speakers—Gordon R. Clapp, former chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority and now president of the Development and Resources Corporation, New York, speaks on "Aims of integrated development," and Irving K. Fox, vice-president of Resources for Tomorrow Inc., Washington, who keynotes the conference with the topic "River basin development in action."

CYCLE RACE STARTS PENTICTON (CP)—About 25 cyclists were slated to set out from Penticton today on a 260-mile bicycle race to Vancouver. They are expected to reach the finish line at Empire stadium Monday afternoon.

WORTH $355,693 IN AUG. Building Values Up; Near-Record Month

Weather Fine Is Weekend Prediction

Outlook is for another fine day today. Yesterday's thermometer reached 82 out of a clear blue sky.

Similar conditions are expected to prevail tomorrow with a predicted 75 as the reading. Extensive fog and low clouds persist along the outer B.C. coast this morning but elsewhere in the province skies are clear. However a mass of cooler air that lies over the Yukon and extreme northern B.C. is pushing slowly southward and will bring patches of high cloud and lower temperatures to most districts tomorrow.

Last night's low was 50.

Building permit values for the city of Kelowna totalled a whopping $355,693 in the month of August, the second highest since 1952. Biggest year so far was 1954 when permit values totalled $523,948.

Figures released by W. L. Conn, city building inspector today, indicates that house building is largely responsible for the record permit values with 14 new residential building permits issued for a value of $206,100.

FULL FIGURES

The total of 48 building permits includes, in addition to the 14 issued, two permits for alterations valued at $1,000; two permits for new commercial buildings valued at $121,000; three permits for commercial buildings alterations valued at $7,525; 12 permits for alterations to residential buildings valued at $3,643 and 12 permits for accessories to residential buildings valued at $3,475. Permits for three new signs valued at $950 were also included in the overall total.

Building permit totals for the month of August since 1953 are as follows: 1953, $87,166; 1954,

D. E. Rickards To Be Buried On Tuesday

A Kelowna resident for 36 years, Denham Ewart Rickards, aged 74, died at home August 30.

Funeral services will be held at the Chapel of Remembrance at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Rev. S. M. Perley officiating. Interment will be in Kelowna cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Rickards are his wife Muriel and two brothers Walter and Robert both in Kelowna.

Pall bearers will be Ron Prosser, E. A. Robinson, Douglas Haworth, Donald Whitman, William Atkinson and Roy Jacques.

Born in Wales, he came to Canada as a young man in 1910 to British Columbia, residing there for a time before joining the CPR and going to Ignace, Ont. He worked there for several years and later went to Carleton Place, where he was postmaster and continued with the railroad. He was in the bakery business in Maidstone and came here in 1926 where he re-entered the railway business until his retirement in 1953.

Mr. and Mrs. Rickards were married in Chelmsford in 1956.

Day's Funeral Service Ltd. are in charge of arrangements.

Tourism Booms; Kelowna Record

Kelowna's tourist figures, over the same period last year, was 1,035.

HOW FIGURES TOTALLED

Mr. Stringer was emphatic in pointing out the significance of the figures in announcing that in Kelowna they are arrived at on the basis of one inquiry to a car and not, as in some other areas, on the basis of three to a car.

Opening of the Rogers Pass section of the Trans-Canada Highway, which has brought a flood of Alberta and other prairie province visitors to the Okanagan, together with the Fair is in progress, is believed largely responsible for a continuing flood of tourists this year.

Next year the new highway is expected to bring even more visitors here from the east.

From Aug. 15 to 31 the chamber office answered 1,562 inquiries and the booth, 619 inquiries for a total of 2,181. Last year the total was 1,446 made up of 684 chamber inquiries and 452 booth inquiries. The increase

Tight Program All Set For Highway Opening

The official program for the formal opening of the newly-completed Trans-Canada Highway by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker on Monday, has been announced today.

Chairman of the program, at which thousands are expected to turn up, will be Hon. David Fulton, Minister of Public Works for Canada.

The program begins at 12:40 p.m. with the arrival of the Trans-Canada cavalcade and the greeting of provincial representatives by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Mr. Fulton will speak the opening remarks at 1 p.m. with a welcome to the area of the visitors at 1:05 p.m. by Stuart A. Fleming, MP for Okanagan-Revelstoke.

At 1:10 p.m. the cavalcade report will be given by H. T. Newell, president of the Canadian Automobile Association, and at 1:15 p.m. remarks will be by Hon. Gordon Taylor, vice-president of the Canadian Good Roads Association.

Unveiling of the Coat-of-arms by provincial representatives will take place at 1:20 p.m. and at 1:45 p.m. Hon. Walter Dinsdale, Minister of Northern Affairs and Natural Resources, will unveil coats-of-arms of the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

The Canadian coat-of-arms will be unveiled at 1:50 p.m. by Hon. Paul Martineau, Minister of Mines and Technical Surveys.

Hon. David Fulton will introduce the Prime Minister at 1:55 p.m. for a brief address. Mr. Diefenbaker will unveil memorial plaques at 2:15 p.m. and the ceremonial paving and official opening of the highway will be declared by the Prime Minister.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett will not be at the opening due to business commitments, according to an announcement last week from Victoria.

Provincial officials however, are expected at the ceremony. Kelowna, Vernon and other Okanagan Valley communities will be represented.

CITY AND DISTRICT

STORES CLOSED All stores and commercial establishments in downtown Kelowna, other than restaurants and some smoke shops and drug stores, will be closed over the holiday weekend. Hours of business for these establishments can be obtained by calling them.

WE'LL HAVE FUN Boating, fishing, picnics, hiking and just plain "weekend driving" is expected to be the order of the day on the holiday weekend as weather conditions hold to near perfect for Labor Day.

Saanich Won't Rival Okanagan Orchards

Would-be Saanich apple growers should stick to berry-growing, Okanagan growers suggest.

Okanagan fruit people don't appear concerned about reports from the Saanich peninsula that the area may one day rival the Valley as an apple area.

R. P. Walrod, general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., commenting on earlier statements by the manager of the Saanich Fruit Growers Association, Herbert Bickford, said he would be inclined to listen to expert horticulturists rather than people with little experience in apple growing.

Charles Carter, provincial horticulturist, has warned Saanich growers that if they go too heavily into apples they will be bringing about a glut on the market.

"They would do better to stay with berries," Mr. Carter said. "For the overall good of the economy of the province, it would be better if they stayed with berries."

Kelowna grower Nigel Taylor wished the Saanich apple growers well.

"More power to their elbow," he said. "Providing they've looked thoroughly into the economics

Repentance Gives Life; Don't Miss Opportunity

"There is one case of death-bed repentance in the Bible," said Saint Augustine, "that none should despair, and only one, that none should presume." He had reference, of course, to the dying thief.

Many have hoped that like him, in their dying hour, they might receive mercy. They fail, however, to realize that the case of the penitent thief was an altogether exceptional one, and that even he was successful only after overcoming great obstacles to faith.

He came from a very dark background. His privileges, if he had any, were few. A life of crime and violence had brought him now to the place of execution. An awful death — to be crucified — and then a fearful plunge into the dark unknown. Could any hour possibly be more dark? So much stacked against him — the whole of his past life. The crowd about him was against him. He had no friend but the friend of sinners.

The influences which surrounded him while on the cross were all against him. His companion and accomplice in crime mocked Christ and cursed with the rabble.

The clergy of the day, the Pharisees, scorned the claims of Christ and jeered him. "He saved others, himself he cannot save," they said, wagging their heads in feigned wonder. Christ seemed powerless, in the hands and at the mercy of his enemies. Yet this was the thief's only opportunity and he seized upon it.

He was observant. He noted the reaction of Christ to the insults and abuses hurled at him by his enemies. He saw the meekness, the resignation, with which he bore them all. This was no ordinary man. He heard the words, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Could it be, that He who could forgive these, might forgive him also? This degree of forgiveness must be divine. This must be the Christ of God. He would venture his all upon this faith. "Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom." A cry out of the depths to be sure! The answer comes out of heights of divine mercy and grace, "Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in paradise." O, what a balm for the aching heart! What a light sprung up in eternity's dark portals! What hope, what joyous assurance, this!

Christ can save in life's latest hour, but few find opportunity in that hour. True repentance is never too late, but late repentance is seldom true. You cannot repent too soon, because you do not know how soon it may be too late. "Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation." — REV. G. C. SCHELL, Pastor of the Free Methodist Church.

Liberal Columbia Stand Could Wreak Treaty

The Revelstoke byelection campaign has been marked by an attempt by Mr. Ray Perrault, Liberal leader, to make the Columbia treaty the main issue. He attempted to have General McNaughton speak on the issue during the campaign, but this, fortunately, did not come about. He now says that, come what may, the Liberal position on the treaty is that it must be renegotiated.

Mr. Bennett this week saw Mr. Lester Pearson and apparently discussed the Columbia Treaty with him. Mr. Bennett, obviously, was attempting to have Mr. Pearson modify the position he had taken during the general election that the treaty must be completely renegotiated.

Mr. Bennett is speaking in Revelstoke on Saturday night and it is suggested that he may comment on the Columbia talks he had this week with Mr. Fleming and with Mr. Pearson.

Mr. Perrault in attempting at this stage to wreck the Columbia treaty is doing a disservice to this province. It would seem he desires to win the Revelstoke byelection regardless of the consequences to Revelstoke, this province and this country.

The Columbia development could mean much to general conditions in British Columbia and the treaty should be implemented at this session of Parliament in order that work could commence immediately.

The Liberal position, if adopted, would delay the signing of the treaty indefinitely and perhaps permanently.

It would appear that Ottawa and Victoria have finally reached an agreement and the treaty is ready for ratification. Whether the Diefenbaker minority government can get it through the House this session is somewhat problematical.

Should the Liberals be the main instrument in preventing the treaty ratification, they might just as well abandon any hope of electing candidates in the southern part of this province.

Mr. Perrault during his tenure of leadership of the provincial Liberals has made rather a good impression, but in his position on the Columbia he is endangering that good impression. His tactics may gain some votes for his candidate in Revelstoke, but regardless of how the Liberal runs in Revelstoke on Tuesday, Mr. Perrault will have done much harm to the Liberal cause in a dozen adjacent ridings.

Mr. Perrault's position, together with the suggested Liberal opposition to the treaty ratification in the House, could have a disastrous effect on Liberal chances in a half-dozen adjacent ridings when the next federal general election is called. And that could be soon.

Life Behind Iron Curtain Accepted With Resignation

Although Western correspondents regularly visit East Berlin, the rest of Communist East Germany usually is closed to them except for such East-West events as the Leipzig Trade Fair or sports competitions. AP correspondent Loyd Gould has been covering the European swimming championship in Saxony's largest city and sends this report of life behind the Iron Curtain.

By LOYD GOULD

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP)—Hopes rise and fall along the Berlin wall with the slightest change in the East-West political climate. But deeper inside East Germany, there is a spirit of resignation.

Walter Ulbricht, Germany's top Communist, has succeeded in wiping out almost all hope for a change for the better.

"After 17 years of Communist rule," a Leipzig streetcar conductor said, "we are coming to accept our fate."

Similar expressions came from dozens of people this reporter talked to during 10 days in this former cultural and commercial centre.

KNUCKLING UNDER

"Since it looks to many of us as if it's going to stay this way, we're knuckling under and trying to make the best of a bad situation," said a student from East Berlin's Humboldt University, visiting his family here.

The 22-year-old wore the badge of the ruling Socialist (Communist) Unity Party. "The only way to get ahead here is to at least pretend you're a good Communist," he explained.

Joining the party assured him a university education, a slightly better diet and preference for a job when he graduates next year.

"There are about 1,600,000 of us in the party," he said, "and about one per cent are true believers. The rest are like myself—opportunists at heart."

SHOOTINGS DISHEARTEN

He said the widely publicized shootings by East German border police of their fellow countrymen trying to escape over the Berlin wall "have discouraged a lot of us from even thinking about getting out."

A shop clerk in her late teens is a member of the Communist Free German Youth organization.

"Why shouldn't I be?" she asked. "This way I get free vacations on the Baltic coast in summer and better chances for job promotion."

Her fiancé, a 20-year-old machinist, said Communist and non-Communist workers in his factory meet almost daily to discuss the editorials in the party's main newspaper, Neues Deutschland.

"These sessions are boring and time-consuming and we dislike them," he said, "but if you don't show you've read and understood the editorials, you're sunk."

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Smallpox Vaccination

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

A traveller from Asia (reports the magazine "Modern Medicine") arrived in London, then became ill. Smallpox!

Within three weeks, 14 cases of confirmed smallpox occurred. Six victims died.

This is the whole answer to the complaints people make about having to get smallpox vaccinations before going abroad. (Well, strictly speaking you can go abroad without the shot, but you can't get back into the United States without proof of having had such a vaccination within three years.)

People often say, "But I've been vaccinated for smallpox. I can show you the scar."

If they only knew how many adults show a "take" they would change their minds. For immunity gradually wears off, and having been vaccinated as a child doesn't mean that you are still safe. When the repeated vaccination "takes," it is proof that you were not immune any longer.

Many of the nations of Europe and Central Asia have sporadic cases of smallpox. Yet the United States has not had a confirmed case since 1949.

This is not because everybody here is immune. It is estimated that perhaps as many as 25 per cent of our school children have not been vaccinated. How many adults no longer are immune is a question.

We are being protected by this rigid regulation permitting no one to enter the country without having been recently vaccinated. We are, so far, successful in not letting the disease come in. If a case did get in, it could spread!

The World Health Organization is devoting great effort to keeping track globally of cases of smallpox, cholera, plague, typhus, relapsing fever.

We are today on the brink of new vaccines for virus diseases, the polio vaccine and the flu vaccine being, it now seems, forerunners of others within the realm of possibility.

But it wouldn't hurt us to keep in mind the older vaccines, to take stock of our individual needs, and be revaccinated.

Vaccination against smallpox was the first vaccine to be discovered. It has been called, with considerable reason, the medical discovery that has saved more lives than any other single one.

Smallpox can still be fatal, unless we maintain our vigilance.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 29 and want to have my right eye straightened. It has been turned in all my life. I want it corrected more than anything in the world, but could the operation endanger my life?—P.A.T.

"This type of surgery risks no minor and is not dangerous. It is just about possible to guarantee that the eye will not look better but see better, too."

Dear Dr. Molner: Since having a cold, I have not been able to smell or taste anything. Is this a serious condition or can it be cured?—MRS. L.P.

It is not too unusual following flu or a hard cold, and the sense of smell returns when it gets ready to do so. Not much can be done to speed it up.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a friend who eats chewing gum, just like eating candy, from five to 15 sticks a day. I tell her it will kill her. She says she needs it to settle her nerves.—A.L.

No, it won't kill her. Why don't you find a confirmed alcoholic to worry about, and stop trying to frighten the gum out of your friend?

LOOKING BACK with Old Stager

Story Of A Group, Old Cars, History

SECOND IN A TWO-PART SERIES

Wednesday afternoon all the delegates were taken on a tour of the district, which included a stop at the Belgo-Canadian Land Co.'s survey camp at Eight Mile Creek, back of Black Mountain, for a luncheon. To transport the visitors almost all the town's automobiles were rounded up plus those of some of the guests.

Reports say that the arrivals included the following makes: Cadillac, Reo, Everitt, Hudson, Ford, McLaughlin, Cartercar, Tudhope and Napier. Thirty cars were lined up, five abreast, on Bernard Avenue and the whole group photographed by G. H. E. Hudson. I wonder if anyone has a copy today? Comment was made regarding the "quiet purring motors of the new numbers" and the "noisy explosions of the older models!"

INFORMATIVE ADDRESS

When the sessions resumed a Professor Alfred Atkinson of the Dept. of Agronomy of Montana Agricultural College, gave a very informative address. He told of the experiences of older established irrigation projects, and lessons learned. He stressed the danger of excessive use of water, resulting in washing the soil of nutrients, and the drowning of bottom lands. He said they were advising the installation of drainage system along with new irrigation systems, especially if alkali was present in the water. That was 50 years ago! Nobody can say we were not forewarned! But, then, don't we all have to learn the hard way!

Mr. A. E. Ashcroft, a provincial government engineer read his paper on "Government Ownership of Irrigation Works," and while cautiously favorable to the idea, stressed something that proved a stumbling block for a long time.

He stated that it was a principle, that expenditure of public funds that only benefit a certain locality, should be met by taxes raised in that locality. That, he said, was "a truism that only needed to be stated to be assented to." He admitted that the grower was at the present time protected only by the strength and standing of the particular land company.

Time, with the war and the depression, played havoc with his truism, and economic circumstances forced the government to help set up the Irrigation districts, and later to waive the full payment of the debts!

RESOLUTIONS

Following his address the resolution on "water districts" was again presented. A hot debate ensued, with a Charles Wilson, K.C., speaking strongly against government participation in any irrigation project, supported by W. R. Pooley of East Kelowna, who deprecated passing any resolution that might "shatter the faith of capital in the protection of investors by the government. (Did I hear someone say "B.C. Electric"?) Thomas Bulman urged the desirability of developing co-operative irrigation schemes, rather than "making dividends for irrigation companies." J. A. McKelvie of Vernon also spoke strongly in favor of government action, and referred to a $10,000,000 government reserve from which he thought money should be made available. The resolution carried by a big majority, and while the government of the day was in no hurry to adopt the idea, this was the first move toward the eventual solution of the irrigation problems.

DRY PAPERS

There was an almost endless procession of "papers" and addresses by officials of various government departments, professors, experts and so on, many of them interesting and valuable, and some no doubt very boring! Amongst the speakers were Professor Ross, Toronto, John T. Burns, sec'y. of the "International Dry Farming Congress," Lethbridge, (how did he get into an irrigation meeting?), William Pearce, a former president of the WCIA, R. M. Winslow, provincial horticulturist, F. H. Dean, State Horticulturist from Missoula, Montana, who spoke on "Baldwin Spot," a number one headache of these days, who digressed to make a comment that he thought we had "far too many varieties in the district, and ought to reduce to a few commercially acceptable ones"—and that advice was given 50 years ago, but went unheeded.

The main speaker of the convention, Sir William Willocks, finally was called upon to address the, by this time I am sure, wearied delegates.

NO DRY PAPERS

His subject was "Irrigation Lessons of the Old World," but to the surprise and delight of his audience, his address turned out to be "gay rather than serious, and replete with apt quotations and epigrams," said the Courier report, and kept the delegates laughing and applauding throughout. It must have been a pleasant relief after so many informative, but dry, "papers" and "reports," and have come like a welcome shower on a hot day!

Unfortunately the Courier report did not give the amusing part of the address, otherwise wading through those 15 columns might have been more enjoyable, and this article more interesting. One bit of sly humor did creep in, though.

HUMOR

Sir William commented on Canada's labor shortage, a problem we were trying to solve by immigration. In Egypt, he said, they had no such problem, they had a much easier and less expensive method of maintaining the labor supply—they had had polygamy!

On the serious side, he stressed rotation of crops, crediting this with being one of the reasons why the irrigated lands of Egypt were as fertile today as they were 7000 years ago!

ELECTION

The election of officers brought to a close a highly successful convention. New president was Duncan Marshall, Alberta's minister of agriculture, W. C. Ricardo of Vernon became vice-president, and amongst the executive members were Thomas Bulman, J. A. McKelvie, Dr. C. W. Dickson, and from Kamloops, F. J. Fulton.

Lethbridge, Alta. was chosen as the site of the 1913 convention. A vote of thanks was extended to Dr. Dickson, local secretary, for his excellent work in making all the arrangements for the convention. No, we don't take irrigation as seriously today as they did in 1912, but, if it hadn't have been for the pioneer irrigationists, even the much criticized land companies too, putting water on the bench lands of the area, Kelowna would be just another "cow town" today.

Fruit Orchard Acreage Shows A Fall In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Fruit orchard acreage in Canada declined by 10 per cent in the 1956-61 period with apple trees taking the sharpest drop.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics released another section of its 1961 farm census today showing fruit orchard area at 148,159 acres. It was down 10 per cent from 1956 and 16 per cent from the 1951 figure.

A farm census is made every five years.

Ontario lost 5,919 acres of orchard land in the five-year period, most of it to industrial and residential expansion. It now has 68,728 orchard acres.

Nova Scotia dropped 4,635 acres to 13,156; British Columbia 2,989 to 37,103, and Quebec 2,527 to 25,745.

The number of apple trees on commercial orchards was down 11 per cent from 1956.

Market garden acreage for vegetables was up 13 per cent in the same period to 216,093 acres with increased plantings of sweet corn, peas, tomatoes and beans leading the way.

Acreage devoted to the small fruits — strawberries, raspberries and grapes — shot up 20 per cent to 54,538 acres and the area of greenhouses jumped 44 per cent over 1956 totals and a whopping 70 per cent from the 1961 figure.

Since 1921 fruit orchard acreage has been reduced by half. During that time the number of apple trees declined from nearly 12,000,000 to less than 5,000,000 while other fruits showed increases.

In contrast, the 1961 vegetable acreage of 216,093 acres compared to only 30,800 acres in commercial vegetable production in 1921. Better methods of packaging, preserving and distributing vegetables have caused the leap.

MORE DRIVERS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Newfoundland reports a record 78,300 driver's permits issued by mid-August this year, 2,000 more than the total for all of 1961. Autos registered totalled 49,775 and trucks 14,000 — also records.

NOVA SCOTIA ART

HALIFAX (CP)—More than 60 Nova Scotia artists will send a total of 260 paintings to a show of Nova Scotia art at Toronto's Thorncliffe Market Oct. 1. The two-week show is sponsored by former Nova Scotian Kenneth M. Smith now a Toronto businessman.

SIDEWALK DEFROSTER

HALIFAX (CP)—The Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company has installed Halifax' first automatic snow removal system, a network of electric cables laid under the sidewalk to melt snow as it falls.

ANTI-HEAVY FENCE

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP)—The park's department has fenced off a weeping willow and a poplar tree at Riverside park to protect them from ridding beavers. As woodmen, the animals are "no slouches," said an official. "You should see the size of the chips they're taking out."

BIBLE BRIEFS

And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the spirit of our God.—1. Corinthians 6:11.

Your life may have been a painful failure, but if you will turn yourself over to God, He will put you into his washing machine and you will come out spotless.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Sept. 1, 1962 . . .

Five delegates each from Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island met at Charlottetown 98 years ago today—in 1864—to discuss political union of the three Maritime regions. Interest in the Charlottetown Conference was increased because the government of Canada asked permission to send representatives, and the project blossomed into the Quebec Conference a month later.

1535 — Jacques Cartier visited and described the locality now known as Tadoussac, Que.

1905 — The provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were created.

DIAMOND ANNIVERSARY REUNION

Former Westbank Resident Honored At Birthday Party

Mrs. Morgan Lewis, long a Westbank resident now making her home in Kelowna, was the guest of honor at a birthday party given at her home in Riverside Apartments and attended by friends from both sides of the lake.

Mrs. Leonard Hannam, of Westbank, was the hostess, and among those able to be present were Mrs. A. C. Hoskins, another Westbanker now living in Kelowna; Mrs. Prescott Lindahl and Mrs. Evelyn Lindahl, both of Kelowna; Mrs. Hannam and David Hannam and J. U. Gellatly, all from Westbank.

Those unable to be present sent good wishes, and these, with gifts and a birthday cake made by the hostess, gave the occasion a festive air.

Mrs. O. G. Walker entertained at tea earlier this week in honor of her sister, Miss B. B. McGiven, of Winnipeg, who, impressed with the Okanagan, may make her permanent home here.

Following their session at summer school, Mr. and Mrs. Al Madryga were guests for a few days at the home of Mr. Madryga's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Fearley, before proceeding back to their home at Westsyde, near North Kamloops.

Mrs. T. K. Aird has returned to her Vancouver home following a stay here with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William MacLean.

Leaving for the coast where they will attend the marriage in North Surrey Saturday of Miss Joan Fiedler and Mr. Bert Young, were Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ewer.

Also expected to attend the wedding from Westbank are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sheller and daughter Penny, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Salmon and daughter Barbara, as well as the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fiedler.

Guests from Kelowna are expected to include: Mr. and Mrs. William Symonds and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harrison, and probably, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hewlett and family.

Lorne Malarno is returning to his home in Penticton following an extensive stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Salmon.

Danny Werstjuk has returned from a stay at 100 Mile.

During the holiday weekend a group of young people plan a stay at Morning Star Bible Camp, where grown-ups and teenagers will participate in a Bible Conference on Labor Day.

Visitors during last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hewlett included the latter's sister, Miss H. B. Parkin, of Penticton, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Schultze, of Trail who renewed old acquaintanceships with several friends in the vicinity, while here.

ANN LANDERS

He Can Also Ask Alimony

Dear Ann Landers: My husband told me something yesterday that shocked me. He swears he is right. He claims a man can collect alimony from his wife.

I've never heard of such a thing. It's hard to believe that any woman would stoop to such a level but it is even more incredible that the law would allow it. He insists it's true and says he doesn't see anything so terrible about it when the woman has the money.

I think my husband is crazy. What do you think?

—DOUBTING THOMASINA.

Dear Doubting: Your husband may be crazy, but he is right about this one.

If the wife is proven to be responsible for the marriage failure and if it can be further proven that he is unable (due to ill health or other reasons) to live in the manner to which her money has accustomed him, he can sue for alimony — and get it.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 18, a sharp dresser, quick on the comeback, and I have a figure that men turn around and whistle at. But for some mysterious reason I haven't had a date in three months.

I work in an office with mostly married men. The few single squares around aren't my style. Don't suggest swimming, skating, bowling or tennis. Movies hurt my eyes and music bores me. Church is out. I got my fill of that when I went to Sunday school.

Please don't tell me to sign up for an adult education class. I've seen those middle-aged spooks with inch-thick glasses who go to school all their lives. And don't suggest that I get interested in politics. I hate door-bell-ringing and envelope-stuffing.

How about being a good scout and giving a lonesome girl a hand? — NANCY.

Dear Nancy: God helps those who help themselves, and so far as I can see, you're not moving a muscle.

There are an awful lot of things you don't like, Petunia, which is the biggest part of your problem. Go through the list of activities you don't want to try and make an honest effort to revise your thinking. Unless you change your attitude nothing very interesting is going to happen to you — ever.

Four Generations Present At Diamond Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Cornock of Kelowna celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on August 30th with a family reunion and an open house for their friends which was held at the home of their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Cornock, De Hart Avenue Thursday afternoon and evening.

Set in the pretty shaded garden of their son's home was a table centered with a beautiful basket of yellow chrysanthemums and red carnations, flanked by two tall white candles, which was a gift from the Canadian Legion, and on the table were two beautiful anniversary cakes, a lovely three tiered wedding cake which was a gift from the family, and an enormous beautifully iced one layer cake presented to Mr. and Mrs. Cornock by the Senior Citizens Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornock who have lived in Kelowna for the past seventeen years were married in Wotten-Under-Edge in Gloucestershire, England in 1902. Arriving in Canada in 1920 they settled at Dawson Creek, B.C. and spent the next twenty-five years farming there and at Rolla until they retired to Kelowna in 1945.

They have one son Mr. Reginald Cornock who lives in Kelowna with his wife and family and one daughter Mrs. Phyllis Higgins of Dawson Creek, B.C. seven grandchildren, and four great grandchildren.

Attending the anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Higgins, Mr. Reginald Cornock, his wife Lillian and three children Donald, Jimmy, and Sandra, their granddaughter Alice Allen with her husband Mr. Bruce Allen and children Phyllis and Brian, and Mrs. Evelyn Swenson another daughter from Destruction Bay, Yukon Territory.

Unable to attend were their grandson Mr. Frank Higgins, his wife and children Sidney, Valerie, Donny and Lyle who live at Watson Lake, Yukon Territory and their granddaughter Mrs. Marjorie Stevenson, her husband and children Sheila, Gordon, Tommy, Teresa and Geoffrey who live at Fort St. John B.C. and their great grandchildren Teddy, Danny and Deena Swenson and their father Mr. Duane Swenson who live at Destruction Bay.

Mr. Douglas Woodham acted as master of ceremonies and read the congratulatory telegrams received from the Queen, Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Lieutenant Governor George R. Pearkes and Premier W. A. C. Bennett as well as those from

We would once again remind all parents, and students of all ages and grades, that students are to report to their respective schools on September 4th, 1962, as advertised, and are not to go fruit picking.

As in past years, all arrangements have been made with the B.C.F.G.A., Farm Labour Committee, and the National Employment Service, that if any emergency arises in the fruit industry, the Board, with these other organizations, will decide whether students will be released to assist.

AROUND TOWN

WONDERFUL TRIP

Miss Maryon Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bruce Smith, returned on Wednesday from a fascinating ten week visit to Europe.

As a member of the Gibb MacFarlane Tour which comprised some fifty young students Maryon sailed on the S.S. Saxonia of the Cunard Line for France after spending a few days in Montreal visiting friends.

In Europe the tour commenced with a bus trip through rural France which was concluded with a week's stay in Paris. The students then boarded a train for Germany where they set forth on bicycles to tour the Black Forest and various parts of the Austrian Alps.

A visit to the main cities of Austria followed, and the group continued on to Switzerland where they enjoyed a few days in Zurich before travelling on to Italy where they visited Verona, Florence, Venice, and Rome, after resting for a few days in Corsica enjoying the beaches, they returned to Paris.

Ten days in London then concluded the wonderful tour and Maryon flew home with a stop over in Montreal to spend the next ten days of her holidays with her parents in Kelowna before entering UBC this fall.

WEDDING CORRECTION

In the write-up of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Reece which took place in the United Church Chapel, Penticton, on August 25th, the bride's name was given as Mrs. Mary McDonald instead of Mrs. Grace May McDonald of Penticton which is correct. Our sincere apologies to Mr. and Mrs. Reece.

INTERESTING VISITOR

Mr. Nicholas Grand Maison, internationally known portrait artist from Banff and his friend, Mr. Peter Ripley of Calgary were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hill, Lakeview Heights. Mr. Grand Maison who specializes in pastel portraits of Indian Chiefs and also has been commissioned to do a number of portraits of prominent people both in Canada and the United States, is planning a future showing of his work in the Okanagan Regional Library.

Other friends who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hill during the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Calton and family from Calgary accompanied by Mrs. Calton's sister and parents; and Mrs. Hill's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. D. MacGillivray from Regina.

Mrs. J. K. MacInnes of Halifax, who has been spending the summer in the Okanagan visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. O'Donnell in Kelowna and her son Dr. Fred MacInnes and his wife and family in Summerland, left for home on Tuesday.

Dr. and Mrs. MacInnes, Mrs. O'Donnell and two grandchildren drove as far as Calgary with Mrs. MacInnes where she boarded a plane for home.

Dr. and Mrs. Neville G. Jones and their two sons who have just returned from a two year's stay in Europe where Dr. Jones has been completing a three year course of post graduate studies in Plastic Surgery, are visiting Dr. Jones' parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald March, Miss Sandra Duncan and Miss Joan Wright, all of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, who have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ostepchuk, Dilworth Crescent for the past few weeks, left on Friday to return home.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. FitzGerald and Miss Jeanette

OKANAGAN MISSION

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heyman, Eldorado Road have been Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gardner of Prince George and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Murray of Vancouver.

Miss Valerie Upton is spending a week at Beaver Lake, the guest of Miss Wendy Sinclair-Thomson.

Staying with Mrs. George Hancock, Lakeshore Road, have been Mr. and Mrs. S. Cox of New Westminster and Mr. and Mrs. Hansen of Surrey.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. White and family camped for a few days last week at the lakeside home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Zdralek, to attend the wedding of Miss Louise Zdralek to Mr. H. F. McFall.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sutherland and family left to take up residence in Kelowna, this week, having sold their house and property to Mr. and Mrs. Y. Tabata, who will be moving in shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henry from Twin Falls, Idaho, are staying at the Capri Motor Inn while enjoying a few days golfing in Kelowna.

GYMKHANA

Among the out of Valley enthusiasts who are bringing horses to show in the Okanagan Valley Horse Show and Gymkhana which will take place in the Kelowna Riding Club grounds, beginning with children's classes on Saturday afternoon and continuing with senior classes and gymkhana events on Sunday and Monday, are former Kelownians, Mr. and Mrs. Tom White from Williams Lake; Dr. and Mrs. Lorne Greenaway from Kamloops; Mr. and Mrs. Cooke from Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Shields from Prince George.

On Sunday and Monday morning the Lions Ladies will serve a pancake breakfast on the grounds and on Sunday evening the annual banquet will take place in the Riding Clubhouse.

My Pal Is Leaving For School Next Tuesday

He's just a little guy and he has a lot of streets to cross to get to school. I hope you and all the other folks who drive cars will be looking out for him.

Please stop at the stop signs in front of the schools and let him cross the street.

Please drive slowly on the streets he has to cross, he's pretty careful but once in a while he runs into the street without looking. After all he's just like you when you were a youngster.

And please be really careful when you are driving past the school house, he might run into the street after a ball and not look to see if you are coming.

Like I said before he is just a little guy, but he sure is a nice little guy. I don't want him to get hurt so he can't run and play with me any more.

You'll help him get to school and back won't you?

Please Give

In ancient times, it was the custom for crews to work for days repairing and improving the road over which they were intended to travel. Through Isaiah, God prophesies just such a forerunner for His Son; John the Baptist would prepare the Israelites for Christ's coming—Isaiah 40:3-5.

Isaiah also observes that man's mortal life is like grass, and its beauty "like the flower of the field." When the hot winds blow from the East "the grass withers, the flower fades; and everything mortal dies." But the word of our God will stand forever.—Isaiah 40:6-8.

More than a century before the destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar, Isaiah prophesied the eventual blessings which were to come to that city—the joyful return of the exiles, Christ's redemption for us there and the final return of His people.—Isaiah 40:9-11.

Isaiah pictures the joy of the chastened exiles in their return to a Jerusalem which is in ruins, but newly sanctified by God. "For Jehovah hath redeemed Jerusalem."—Isaiah 32:7-10.

Bishop And Hunter Speak

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—A distinguished bishop from Britain and a caribou hunter from Coppermine in the Northwest Territories share the spotlight during the eight-day Anglican church synod that closed here Thursday.

Both brought the same message in different ways—the first in the impeccable oratory of an acknowledged statesman in the church, the other in the Eskimo dialect of his people far above the Arctic Circle.

The message for the 344 bishops, clergy and laymen at the triennial assembly was a plea to look beyond the symbols and the jargon of religion and fix attention on the basics of Christianity and the world.

Rt. Rev. Stephen F. Bayne of London, former episcopal bishop of Seattle, Wash., and now roving ambassador of the world Anglican communion, told the synod not to waste time on "churchy" things.

Anglican Church Synod States Education Policy

KINGSTON (CP)—The governing general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada has approved a policy declaration that teaching in public schools should be based on "the Christian view."

"There is no neutral course in education," the statement says. "The educational system which is not inclined towards the Christian principles is inevitably slanted away from them."

The declaration made clear it was not talking about classes in religious education.

"We are primarily interested in the kind of impression the child gets in the teaching of history and literature and even in the physical sciences," said Rev. F. A. Peake of Glanworth, Ont., director of religious education in Huron diocese and a member of the committee that drafted the statement.

VIEWS DIFFER

The synod devoted five minutes to the statement. But discussion in the corridors later pointed up differing views.

Montreal dentist J. C. Flanagan termed the policy "perfectly stupid." He asked how it was possible to "slant" education in a Christian direction when many teachers do not hold with the Christian faith and have no training in it.

"With the development of a cosmopolitan Canada, it is more and more going to devolve upon the family to see that children get their religious teaching in the home and the church," he said.

Both he and Mr. Peake said they "disagree violently" with a speech on the issue by Juvenile Court Judge J. Elliot Hudson of Halifax, who suggested that newcomers to Canada are behind pressure to keep religion out of the schools.

"Many people who have come to this country and have been welcomed with open arms seem to want to overthrow the teaching of Christianity in the schools," Judge Hudson told the synod.

"The quicker people who come to this country are taught the ideals of this country, the better," he said.

LACK KNOWLEDGE

The judge, lay secretary of the synod's lower house, said he has been astounded to find that "boys and girls in court know very little about religion."

The statement on religion in the schools, part of a report by the Anglican board of religious education which took up most of the day's session, was drafted by a committee headed by Rev. Frederick Payne of Prescott, Ont.

Bishop G. P. Gower of New Westminster, B.C., a member of the drafting committee, said the church is encountering "secularism, denominationalism and sometimes narrow sectarianism" in public education.

He said the issue eventually must be approached by a united front of all Christians. The bishop added he felt sure the Roman Catholic Church would be anxious to talk with Protestants about the problem.

PLANS STUDY

Mr. Peake told the synod that a commission of the Canadian Council of Churches is planning an extensive study of religion in the schools and said the Anglican declaration was "not intended to be a final or definitive statement" on the subject.

The statement holds that the church has a right to a voice in public education and notes that "the overwhelming majority of Canadian taxpayers are at least nominally Christian."

The church wants the schools to help all pupils "to an awareness of the significance and contribution of the Christian faith and tradition in our way of life."

NEEDS TEACHERS

Noting that maintaining "Christian attitudes" in education depends ultimately on the individual teacher, the statement says that "the church will need to give as much time to the enlistment of teachers as she does to that of priests and other professional workers."

School curriculums often contain materials which, "to say the least, do not do justice to the Christian view" and the church should "maintain communication" with educational authorities during curriculum revision.

On possible future policy, the board suggests that Anglican parochial schools would permit establishment of a fully Christian-based curriculum. Delegates said outside the assembly that cost of such a program would prevent any such action in the near future, although the Anglican church maintains parochial schools in Newfoundland.

The synod also approved a program designed to stimulate religious education on the church by providing a stronger curriculum for adults, encouraging children to take part in the full services of worship and including study of issues faced in the secular world.

"At the very least the church has the right to insist that public education should present the Christian view of God, man and the world on the same basis as other views," the board report said.

SUSIE'S IDEAS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Do you suppose Susie wants an addition for her doll family? Or ice cream and cake for supper tonight? Or a new pair of fancy black patent-leather shoes?

I'm Susie's mother, but I wouldn't know! You'd have to have seven league boots to keep pace with her active little mind!

For instance, she'd overheard us discussing our new family policy of having a suggestion box. Susie was determined to get into the act too. It is typical of her, typical of our family. We enjoy doing things together. We believe in unity in work, in play, and in prayer.

We center our family activities about the Church. The children go to Church School—Susie can hardly wait for each Sunday morning—and my husband is active in the Men's Club. I am president of the woman's group in our parish. Yet—it does take a lot of time and effort. But I am never happier than when I am doing church work, because I know how truly worthwhile it is.

Don't forget that your church needs workers too! Just as you need the Church!

NOTABLE KELOWNA MUSICAL PRODUCT—THE KINETTE CHOIR

Even In Pre-Human Times Love Songs Were In Order

By SHERRY BAKER

Somewhere back through the centuries music had its beginning. Knowledge of the exact circumstances and time of this beginning are as yet unknown, but several theories have been formed by studying primitive people and their customs.

Darwin, who dwelled on the theory that man evolved from the ape, was inclined to believe that music developed from the love call of pre-human ancestors.

Greeks believed that music had a divine origin.

Present day man can, and does, believe almost anything.

The nearest approach to its actual origin is derived from delving back into primitive people's music. Even from that source, only general conclusions can be made.

The first recorded date that the encyclopedia has given any thought to is 776 B.C. when musical-poetic activity was the rage. During this era, poems were recited to the accompaniment of the lyre, a harp-like instrument plucked by the fingers. This type of melody was understandably not comparable to ours, but the Greeks liked it! The rhythm was then essentially that of the poetry and no fixed beat was established that early in the game.

Lyric poetry was next developed in satirical verse which resulted in more highly varied rhythm, producing more varied music.

EARLY DAYS

Greek musicians in the early days of music had no concept of harmony. Although the need for the blending of tones was realized, no effective step was taken to transform the raucous rantings of the musical set into something a little more genteel.

The earliest melody of the Greeks was confined within a tonal range of four notes and this early melody was at the same time less and more than a tune. It was less in that it lacked interest and contrast, but it did give intensification and accentuation to the words to which it was set.

Yet as the artistic sense of music expanded so did the scale. Greek music grew. Separate in development was Christian music which featured the chanting of Psalms. In the East, where Christianity originated, they were sung in vernacular languages, and many varieties of melody were developed.

From the fall of the Roman Empire in 476 to the Mohammedan conquests in the 19th century great musical activity was in progress. Syria, Armenia, and Ethiopia all contributed something to the musical tradition being formed.

DEFINITE ADVANCE

The definite advance to independence of purely musical ideas was marked by the departure from the Greek method to that of the Gregorian chant of the Roman Catholic Church. Recorded as a far longer stride in the field of music was the invention of harmony.

There is proof that primitive people had contrived a similar type of harmony, suggesting that it originated as unpremeditated art, not an invention solely of the churchmen though they were the first ones to actually put it into practice.

The musical form of the 13th century is indefinite. Records state that during that period there was a great lack of rhythmic variety.

For the best part of two centuries the path of progress in music was that of purity. This "Golden Age" of music, ignored in the musical culture of some of today's great musicians, was disrupted by the fatal rise of instrumental music and dramatic solo declamation.

A REVOLUTION

This brought a revolution into the world of music, as it was an entirely new metropolitan type of music. This occurred in the 17th century and records state that though the century was one of great progress, great music was not particularly in evidence at the time. It was yet to come.

During this revolutionary 17th century the Italians seem to have taken the most logical attitude in music and the progress and consolidation of musical art in general seems to be attributed to them.

As early as 1687 serious musicians when cultivating the stage, also cultivated dance music and the dramatic stage was born. This, and the rise of the violin were two tendencies which converged to make music become formal.

In the early 18th century the trend was towards dramatic music. Music became more dramatic and more powerfully emotional than any previous music, as well as featuring the perfect balance of the early Greek music.

ROMANTIC ERA

Then came the romantic period, bringing along the development of lyric music in the form of songs and short pianoforte pieces. This new period was in direct contrast to the classical period preceding. Dance rhythms were brought into prominence in pianoforte pieces.

In the 18th century countries other than Germany, which seemed to be the centre of musical controversy during the foregoing years, were waking up to music. Before they had been content to let foreign countries dominate their music and soon began to put forth their own ideas.

RECOGNITION RARE

Recognition of English music was rare throughout the world at the time. English music seemed to be confused and misplaced and was probably not understandable. Music ceased to be an integral part of an Englishman's culture. Therefore, its musicians began their study far too late, says the encyclopedia.

The early 20th century was the scene of much controversy about the style of the symphonic poems and operas inherited from the last stage of the 19th century. But the cynicism soon died and today, looking back, the music seems to be accepted as a great addition to the history of music.

The 20th century is at the stage of realizing that it must enlarge its musical experience before another renaissance of classical form can be either expected, or recognized when it comes.

DANCE LUNACY

Now the work of doctrinaires is not all that is happening to music; it is in the pleasant position of existing on practical terms which forbid mere lunacy to flourish, states the encyclopedia.

Today music is appreciated perhaps as it never has been before. Certainly there are more medium by which to appreciate it. Even those who are unable to attend recitals and operas are offered the next-best medium which is that of recordings. Today there is no excuse for a lack of knowledge of musical art and there is definitely far more to appreciate than ever before.

Music Page All Rumpus Rooms Need 'Animal Head On Wall'

EDMONTON (CP) — Every rumpus room in North America would have an animal head on the wall if Clifford Wolfe had his way.

The 42-year-old taxidermist says the recreation room has replaced the library or games room as the only suitable spot in the modern house where an animal head can be mounted.

And the increasing success of the taxidermy business is the result of a boom in rumpus room building, and a revival among hunters of the desire to see their trophies preserved, he says.

Just the same, Mr. Wolfe, who inherited his job from his father nine years ago, says taxidermy is a "vanishing trade."

TYPICAL SHOP

Ruddy-faced and friendly, he runs his shop with five assistants in a long, low concrete building in Edmonton's east end.

The interior is heavy with the smell of glue and animal hides, and littered with mounted heads, birds and rolled rugs.

Hunters send their trophies from as far away as Kenya and Panama. He gets two-thirds of his work from hunters outside Alberta.

"We advertise by word of mouth," he says. "If we do a good job for one man, he'll recommend us to another. We had one or two customers in the New York area a couple of years ago, and now we've got eight or 10."

But busiest time is in the fall when most North American hunting seasons are open. There are other peak times, such as when the annual buffalo hunt is held on the Alberta-North West Territories border.

LANDMARK DISPUTED

STONE CROSS, England (CP)—The stone that marks the spot where King William Rufus was killed is 12 miles out of place, says historian Arthur Lloyd. William I was hit by an arrow while hunting in 1100, and the stone was placed in 1745 where legend said the accident happened. Lloyd bases his claim on writings of a 15th-century librarian.

or when men return to the city from the DEW radar lines in the far north with polar bear pelts.

POLAR BEAR HEADS

Mr. Wolfe mounted as many as 90 polar bear heads each year until last year, when the number dropped as Winnipeg, rather than Edmonton, became the main terminal for flights from the north.

The shop handles deer, elk, bears, mountain sheep and goats; cougars, lynx and smaller animals such as marmots and otters; and birds ranging from big owls to woodpeckers.

The most popular trophies are mounted deer heads, of which Mr. Wolfe does more than 300 a year. The average mounted head costs the hunter $25 to $50.

He is carrying on a family business started here in 1910 by one of his uncles. The uncle passed it on to Mr. Wolfe's father.

Don't Knock That 'Bum' In Field Of Education

By BETHEL STEELE

"That" time of year has come again when I am given the privilege of assessing music in education.

For a change I am going to take the broader view and talk about education in general.

For that matter, all learning, in the arts or in the pure sciences and their allied subjects is education.

Unaccountably, during the last year or so I have had young people who are not going on to university make excuses for the fact by stating . . . "At least I won't be an educated bum and not earn my living with my university degree and do nothing but read."

When I have asked the reasons for this way of thinking I have been told that the purpose of an education is to prepare one for earning a living.

Certainly the higher the degree the larger the salary. But is this attitude not part of our modern status seeking and on a par with the necessity of owning a house bigger and better than one's neighbor?

It seems to me that these young people, through indoctrination, have acquired the wrong concept of the meaning of the word education and what it really means to be truly educated.

ONLY IGNORANT

Publius Syrus said . . . "It is only the ignorant who despise education."

On the other hand, Socrates stated . . . "The soul takes nothing with her to the other world but her education and culture; and these, it is said, are of the greatest service or of the greatest injury to the dead man at the very beginning of his journey thither."

True education prepares man for a way of life and what that way of life becomes will be colored by how he is taught to think for himself. He can only become an educated "bum" or snob if his education has meant nothing more than so many credits or hours toward a masters or a doctorate degree.

EDUCATED BUMS

I shall never forget my conversation when, during a discussion of philosophy, a university graduate asked who Emerson was when his name came into the conversation.

I have known many so called educated "bums". One of the early mayors in our northern Manitoba town was a business man with a university degree. He was in groceries and hardware and he laid the foundations for the fine educational facilities now in force in that town.

Another "bum" was a Scotsman, university educated and a bachelor who acted on the school board. He never worked a day in his life all the years I knew him but he was a force for the development of culture in our community and his wonderful library was open to any one who wanted to read. And it was he who was responsible for my interest in writing.

Four of the worst "bums" in those far away days were two violinist schoolteachers, graduates of European conservatories, a violinist government veterinary, and a "cellist" farmer from the Royal Schools in England.

GREEN STUDENT

From these men I learned the true meaning of musicianship because as a young green piano student I had to sight read piano parts for their chamber music sessions that would sometimes start on Friday after school and never end until time for the teachers to catch their train back to their schools on Sunday night.

Oh! no! these people did not use their education to earn their living. But their education used them to make the world around them a better and a finer place in which to live. It brought ideas to those less fortunate than they and it brought beauty of sound into a community which otherwise would never have known that Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert, Brahms and Schumann, even existed.

An educated "bum"? The world would be a sorry place without him. He is responsible for most of the beauty in the realm of the mind. I wonder if we are not being led back to the kind of thinking which caused the Moslems to destroy the great library at Alexandria?

WE'LL BRING OUT THE MUSIC IN YOU.

Canada's Farms Fewer But Their Size Grows

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian farms are becoming fewer but larger and boast more improved land than ever before, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today in a report on last year's farm census.

The census indicates the total number of farms fell to 480,903 from 575,015 five years before and 732,832 in 1941. The drop was sharpest in the maritimes. While the number of farms continued to decline, the country's total farm area was little changed at 172,551,051 acres, compared with 173,923,691 in 1956.

Average of improved land rose 3.1 per cent in the five-year period to 103,403,426 acres from 100,32,243. Improved land was defined as fields under crops, summer fallow, inroads, barnyards and areas of new breaking.

Total area under crops fell slightly to 62,435,534 acres from the 1956 figure of 62,914,176. The largest drop — 21.8 per cent — was recorded in New Brunswick.

The area under crops increased 14.4 per cent in British Columbia and showed smaller increases in Alberta and Manitoba. Declines occurred in all other provinces.

The total acreage of unimproved farm land, comprising woodlots, natural pastures and wasteland, declined six per cent to 69,147,025 acres from 73,597,418.

The trend toward larger farms is shown by the distribution of farms by size groups.

way to make the hand (you can), now that you know exactly how the East-West cards are divided.

Just as in most double-dummy problems, the solution isn't difficult once you've seen it. If you'd like to work out the answer for yourself, stop reading right here; otherwise, here it is:

The whole point is that you have to do something to prevent the defense from creating the overruff position in diamonds late in the play. There are four, assuming that the first two leads are the ace and another diamond, you ruff the second one and play a club and trump it in dummy.

Now you lead the third round of diamonds, East playing the king, and on it you discard the two of hearts. That gives the defense its second trick, but the only other trick they can get after that is the ace of spades. East is out of diamonds and unable to make a return that will embarrass you in any way.

The purpose behind this playing card (the king of diamonds) from East's hand and at the same time discard a heart which had to be lost in any case.

It is not important that you wind up losing two diamond tricks instead of a heart and a diamond—what is important is that you lose only one trump trick instead of two.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

INTUITION and good judgment should be at a peak now, so it might be a good time to make long-range plans. As for the day itself, it favors social functions, community enterprises and outdoor pursuits. A generally pleasant period!

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that while, except for periods during the current September and late December, the aspects will not be particularly stimulating for either job or money matters until early 1963, you could still make the balance of the year profitable, if you use the next few months to build firmer foundations. Make up your mind to use the relatively "dull" periods for systematizing and reorganizing — taking the long-range view in all planning. Don't expect immediate returns. And, above all, don't look for what's unreasonable.

Personal affairs are under friendly auguries and, except for a brief period in October, when it would be wise to be tactful in all relationships, you should find such matters running smoothly — particularly where social and family interests are concerned.

Best months for romance: the current September, December and the period between next May and August.

A child born on this day will be ambitious, trustworthy and endowed with a great sense of responsibility.

THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW

Another good day! Both personal and financial matters will be governed by generous influences on Monday, and you should make excellent progress in all worthwhile endeavors.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If Monday is your birthday, your chart shows some characteristics which may have to be "played down" in the months ahead—notably your tendency toward irritability and censoriousness with others when things go wrong. Try to cultivate patience during the next 12 months when you progress, both monetarily and jobwise, may not only be slow, but periodically retarded through setbacks. By doing your best in spite of these, however, you will not only counteract adverse influences, but will help to build a more solid foundation for the future.

Your best periods: the current month, December and February, April and June of 1963. Travel and some stimulating social activities enliven the months of December and January, and all your interests should take a turn for the better next February. Single? Look for a new romance, and possibly marriage, this month, December or between May and August of next year.

A child born on this day will be intelligent and self-possessed, but may be too susceptible to flattery.

DIES IN CRASH

VIENNA (AP)—One person was killed and seven injured, when an express train from Romania to Budapest ran off the rails, radio Budapest reported today. The accident occurred Friday near the town of Tiszkanly in Hungary, the broadcast said.

CHEER THAI KING

WELLINGTON (AP) — More than 6,000 New Zealanders cheered Thailand's King Bhumibol and Queen Sirikit today as they arrived by plane for an eight-day tour of the country.

A black and white illustration of a woman's head and shoulders. She is wearing a large, dark, floppy hat with a wide brim. Her hair is styled in a short, wavy bob. She is looking slightly to the left of the viewer with a subtle smile. She is wearing a dark, high-collared garment. The illustration is done in a simple, graphic style with bold lines and stippling for shading.
